The Senate in Executive Sension yester day rejected the nomination of EDWARD W. Mc GAUGHEY of Ind. as Governor of the new territory of Monesota. Mr. McGaughey is a stanch Whig and a man of undeniable ability; and, what is more, of unflinching moral courage. He was one of the fourteen Representatives who stood firm and refused to vote in favor of carrying on the Mexican war after Mr. Polk had infamously caused it to be begun. A day or two will leave no doubt as to the reason of the Senate's action ; mean while the suspicion is entertained that it was no other than this vote on the war. If so, he is more honored by the rejection than the Senate that per

The Pilot Monepoly.

It seems a queer thing that just at the present time the men should be found to go before the Legislature and ask for the restoration of the odion and obsolete Pilot Monopoly. Such is the fact, however; and we learn that a strong force is enpetitions. Ever since the business of pilotage at this port ceased to be the exclusive property of a c'ose corporation there has been a mighty and natural desire on the part of its former possessors to time has arrived when they can accomplish their darling purpose. They have accordingly dispatched the necessary friends and agents to headquar ters, their pockets charged with suitable documents and other manifestations of public sentiment. We trust that like certain other delegates to the same place, whose fame is just now at its climax, they will all and singular come back with a flea in their car.

There is one reason why the former system of pilots should not be restored, namely that it was long tried and worked badly. There is a reason of equal force why the present system should be maintained. It has been tried and works well. In the good old times which there is now so zealous an effort to bring back, a pilot boat was scarce ever seen outside of Sandy Hook. water and keep safe under the shore. Now you

No Mone Appointments - The Washington

The Washington correspondent of the Bultimer

The Washington correspondent of the Baltmare Patriot writes (17th) as follows:

"There may be local appointments made soon after the adjournment of the Senate, but it is authoritatively given out that, unless in cases of special emergency, no appointment to it reign missions will be made the close of the fixed year, the end of June next. The flustness of the Government suggest this policy, and it also prompted, in a great part, by considerations of delicacy toward the mountents, who will thus be given an apparently to resign, without subjecting themselves to the disadvantage of being removed, as most of them certainly will be, soon after that time. There will not be romovals where the continisions have only a short time to run, unless in certain special cases, where the public interest and political justice require that the person in office would be summarily dismissed. Where commissions expire, the appoint ment will be regarded as a new one, and the person who will be selected to fill the office, will be chosen from all the applicants, the incumbent not being regarded for that reason as having any claims or advantages over others.

The following were among the nomination-JOHN SHELLY, Postmaster, Nashville, Tenn. GRONGE M. DEWEY, Receiver, Genosee, Mich. THOMAS C. PERRINS, District Attorney, Conn. WILLIAM D. SCOTT, Marshal of the Eastern District sent in last week

The Committee observe that having given the subject the careful attention its importance seemed to require at their hands, they present merely the results of their investigations-leaving the decision of involving the City in so large an expenditure of money entirely to the wisdom of the Common Council. They remark that in every instance they have invited estimates from the most responsible and practical men, and believe that perfect confidence may be placed in their correctnessthough, it is added, they cannot in justice to themselves refrain from expressing the unanimous opinion that the prezent condition of the City Finances does not warrant the undertaking a work of such magnitude tending to increase still farther the burdens of our tax-

It will be seen that the highest estimate, embracing the shortest period of time, amounts to cansiderably more than three hundred thousand dollars-while at the long than three awarers

MR. The novel views and elequent language f the lecturer elicited frequent marks of warm appre-lation from his auditors; and the musical illustrations dded greatly to the pleasures of the evening. music which was entrusted to him.

This evening Mr. Buckingham will give, at the same lace, assisted by the same vecalists, an entertainment which many National and Patriotic Irish Songs will be introduced to illustrate his views of Ireland's glories wrongs and destiny.
